Custom Font Ghoster Update v0.6 for Gimp 2.10

This update attempts to improve the ghosting for certain characters (such as the dash or minus character) that have a lot of empty space above and below the character. This can give a rather sparse look to the ghosting effect, as seen below, especially if you want to use all of the available space for most of the other characters.

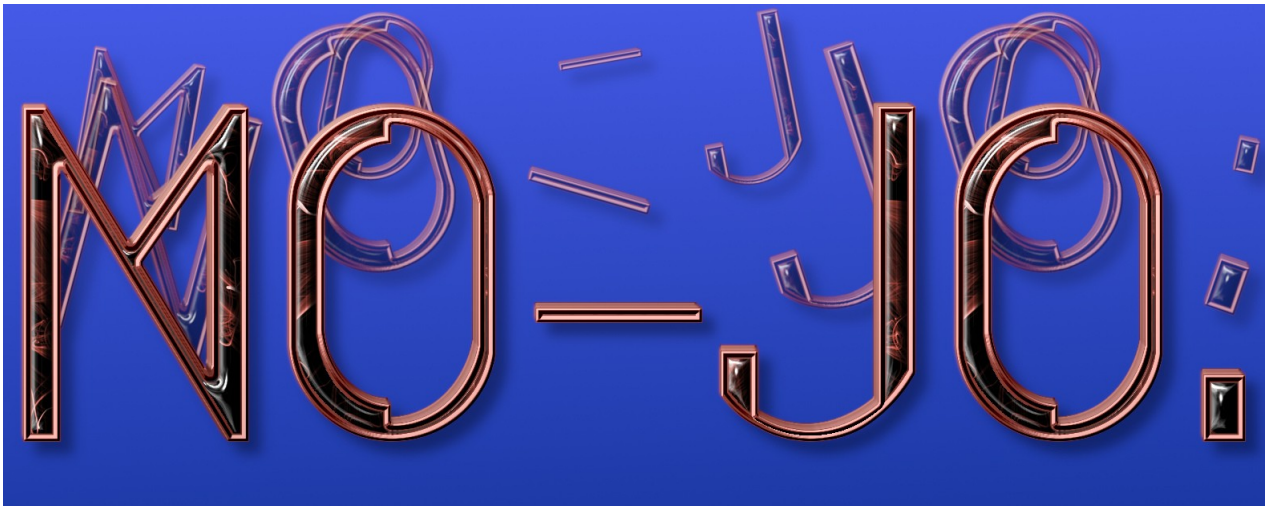

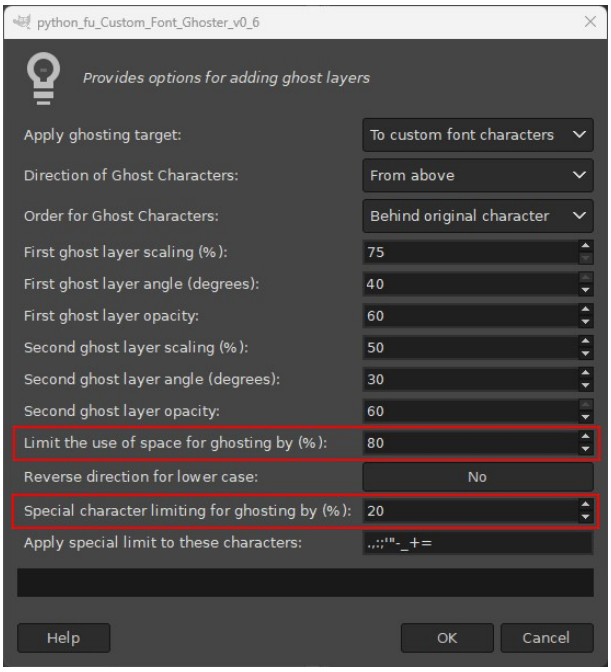

The new dialog has options for adding characters for which you want to limit the spacing and to use a separate value for this spacing (remember that the plug-in selects a random value within this limit).

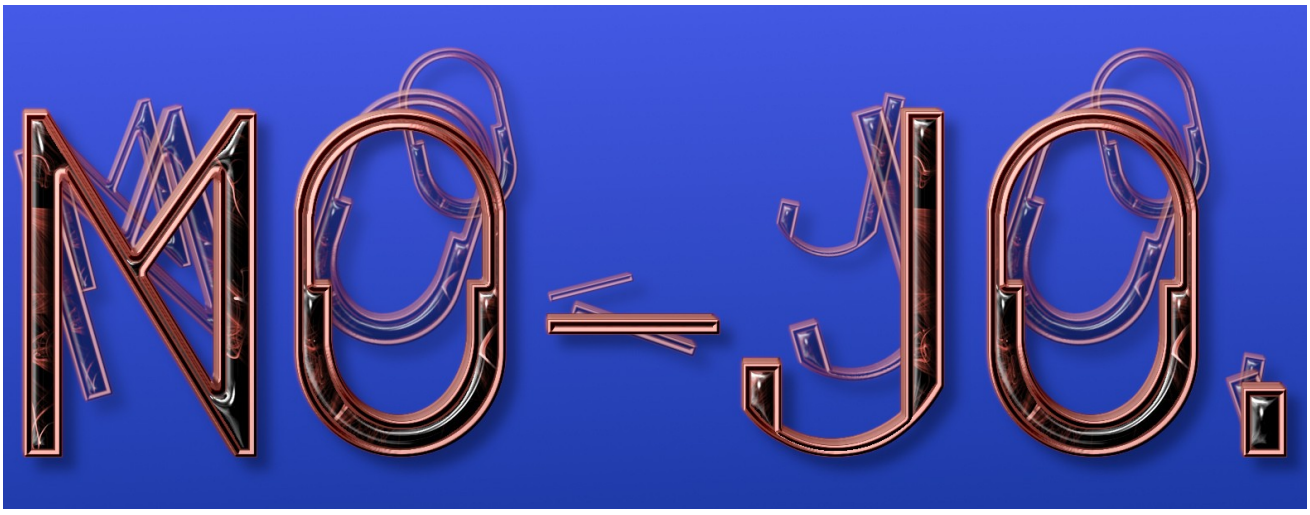

A custom font with limits at 100%.

And the same custom font with the following limits:

A now much more pleasing effect with the dash and full stop (period) characters I think.
